By Associated Press.

LOGAN, W. Va., Sept. 2.—After a morning of uncertainty in which reports from Spruce Fork ridge told of sporadic fighting since daybreak, it was officially announced that "heavy firing" was taking place at Blair mountain, Mill creek and Crook's creek.

Colonel Rubanks said shortly before noon that one Logan man had been wounded on Blair mountain, and that some of the opposing forces had been killed. Airplane reconnoitering over Boone county, east of the ridge, reported increased activity among the armed bands which have assembled there while a courier from "the front" said there was "one continual roar" along the entire line.

The reports, which had the official sanction of the civil and military commanders, indicated the heaviest firing since the line was established along Pine Fork ridge and efforts were made by the Logan county authorities to check what was termed an invasion of their country.

They reported that new men had been sent into the lines which now was about 20 miles in length. These men were fresh and amply provided with ammunition and provisions. Reconnoitering continue to reach Logan from the southern part of the state. The latest arrivals were a party of Mingo men who came by rail from Williamson. In addition to their pistols and rifles they brought with them automatic rifles and machine-guns.

The town of Logan was stirred yesterday morning by the arrival of a continuous military cavalry unit about the news of "concerning" on the ridge with calm assurance. Recruits were heard when it became known that the federal troops were on their way.

LOGAN, Sept. 2.—Widely circulated reports that all was not going well for the "defenders" at the front were set at rest soon after noon when Sheriff Hatfield of McDowell county came in from Crooked Creek with the statement the rebels were holding and that the regiment had been recruited to 1,400 officers and men but Colonel Edward A. Shuttsworth, who was in command, said the number was 1,200.

Colonel Rubanks has been notified that a force of federal troops should reach Logan by F. M. Clegg.

MADISON, W. Va., Sept. 2.—A Chesapeake & Ohio railroad train which carried forces around Blair, have been using since regular service on the Little Coal River branch was stopped through Madison today for a passenger train, a mining village on the Monongahela county border. In one car, it was stated, were the bodies of a number of Whiteside men who had fallen in the fighting on Blair mountain. Two men who reached Madison during the night from the vicinity of Blair. One had a gunshot wound and the other said he had fallen over.

According to reports reaching authorities there was another brush on Blair mountain this morning. The firing continued for almost an hour. If there were casualties they were not reported. Persons in possession of information from what they term "the front" refused to talk for publication although readily discussing the situation there in private. "I must not be quoted," said one physician. "It would get me in trouble."

FOUR THOUSAND REGULARS ON WAY TO TROUBLE ZONE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Federal troops from camps numbering approximately 4,000 men were at noon today in their cars or in readiness to move to West Virginia to enforce the decision of the federal government to re-establish order in the coal fields. Orders for the movements of the troops were issued early in the day by Major General Harbord, assistant chief of staff, on recommendation of Brigadier General Bothwell, representative of the War Department, to the state department. It was advised that the War Department was advised that the 26th Infantry had left its station at Camp Dix, N. J., and that the 10th Infantry was enroute from Camp Sherman O. to the coal fields.

Shortly after this movement had gotten under way two companies left Fort Thomas, Ky., and the 40th Infantry began entraining at Camp Knox, Ky. Another regiment, the 13th, was ready to leave at Camp Dix to move immediately on receipt of orders.

FIRST TROOPS LEAVE
CAMP DIX FOR FRONT

CAMP DIX, N. J., Sept. 2.—The first of three trains carrying the 36th Infantry to West Virginia left Camp Dix at 5:45 A. M. standard time today. The first battalion to leave was in command of Major Burge. Each man was in heavy marching order, carrying a rifle and field helmet. Their packs included a blanket roll, half canteen or shelter tent, an extra pair of shoes, other clothing and equipment rations for two meals.

Major General Shanks, in command at the camp, instructed the troops before they entrained and reviewed them as they marched to the railroad siding. He pronounced the men in his condition and said they were organized for service. The 26th Infantry has been recruited to a strength of approximately 1,000 officers and men. It includes a machine-gun company and medical section. Many of the men were recruited in the West Virginia mountains.

CAMP SHERMAN, O., Sept. 2.—Two troop trains carrying the 19th Infantry, numbering about 500 officers and men, left for the West Virginia mining district at 9:30 today, control time.

The troops were fully equipped for field duty, box cars and flat cars attached to the train carrying horses and transportation and other equipment. The troops are under command of Colonel Martin and their destination is said to be St. Albans, W. Va. Upon his arrival there Colonel Martin was under orders to report to Brigadier General Bandholz.

FORT THOMAS, Ky., Sept. 2.—Two companies of Fort Thomas troops left on a Chesapeake & Ohio train at 11 o'clock today for the West Virginia coal fields.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 2.—The 40th Infantry, with full equipment for protracted field service, arrived at Camp Knob today for West Virginia. The destination was not disclosed but was said to be the coal fields of Mingo county. First announcement came that the regiment had been recruited to 1,400 officers and men but Colonel Edward A. Shuttsworth, who was in command, said the number was 1,200.

Colonel Rubanks has been notified that a force of federal troops should reach Logan by F. M. Clegg.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 2.—The recommendation that federal troops be sent to the disturbed area of West Virginia having been granted by the War Department, Brigadier General H. H. Bandholz, who will be in command, bustled himself walking out the details of placing the soldiers in safe ports. General Bandholz opened his headquarters in a telephone building, taking an entire floor. Extra telephones were installed and every facility was provided to keep in touch with the disturbed counties and Washington. No official information had been received early today from Boone and Logan counties as to the situation there.

ROANOKE, Va., Sept. 2.—Ten of the 17 army airplanes which landed here yesterday on their way from Langley Field, Va., to West Virginia, got away for their destination early this morning. Six of the smaller remaining planes were expected to get away later in the day. It was announced that one of the planes fell in trying to get off and was badly damaged so that it will have to be shipped back to Langley Field for repairs, officers stated. About 800 additional men will be given employment.

Approximately 300 men returned to work at midnight August 21 when the first 10 hot mills were placed in operation after a four months' shutdown.

Cut This Out How to Make Peach Jelly

Peach Jam, Too—
It's Delicious

Whether peach jelly has been almost unknown, even experienced cooks said it had never been made. Peach jam is almost impossible to set. Now, however, by the new Certo process as highly endorsed by government experts and cooking authorities, anyone, even a child, can make both of these delicious preserves at one in a few minutes and be successful every time. This is the way to make it.

Peach Jelly.

Put cooked fruit in jelly bag and squeeze out as much juice as possible. Carefully measure 6½ level cups (1½ lbs.) sugar and then 3 cups (1½ lbs.) juice from cooked fruit into large saucepan (5 to 6 qt. size), stir and bring to a boil. At once add 1 bottle (seant cup) of Certo, stirring constantly. Continue to stir and bring again to hard boil over the hottest fire for one-half minute, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, let stand one minute, skin and pour quickly into glasses. Makes 10 half-pound glasses of jelly.

Peach Jam.

GLANCE AT MATERIAL FOR HIGH SCHOOL TEAM GIVES HOPE FOR CHAMP ELEVEN

A glance at the Connellsville high school football material this year gives rise to the hope that this city will have a championship aggregation, or something pretty close to it by the time the season ends. Coach Rupp gave his usual lessons in football to his observer; it seems that each individual has grown into the 140-150 pound class or more since school closed.

Coach Wine is much interested in his line material at present. Before getting his backfield up to an efficient point he desires to have a line to give his runners protection. A glance over the big squad of candidates would indicate he may be able to produce the big thing in line strength. And at the other he has a very fine to fill the backfield position. For variety more than places are Whipple, McCormick, Johnson and Bush.

Last season Johnson proved himself to be the handsomest little general who has had charge of a team since the days of Pat Moser. He was severely handicapped by his lack of weight, however, especially on the offense, as he could seldom help in carrying the ball. This weakness was offset, however, by his ability to select the right plays at the right time and his nerve tackling. This year the youngster is heavier and will give any opposing candidate a run for the position.

Bush, probably the best hot for fullback, finished off last season's material and did not begin to come in to the front until the close of the season. Then his place was surprising. If he continues he will be a big asset to the Cokers.

Whipple and McCormick are both fast. They are twins in size and will make a pair of well balanced halfbacks. Both McCormick and Bush can punt, with McCormick excelling in drop and place kicking.

In addition to these men there are numbers of new recruits entering the school and before the season closes there may be an entirely different lineup. Some of the newcomers look good and Coach Wine will give each

Suggestions of the candidates and the fact that every man will have to give a fielding defense and offense for the eleven.

The most likely looking line men at present are Whipple, Dunn and Pendleton for ends; Morris, Tabor and Bitcher for tackles; Sundusky and Spangler for guards; and "Doc" Buttner for center. In addition to this array there are about 20 other good men out for the same positions. A number of out of town players have inquired of the possibilities of making the team, but with so much local material to draw from it is hardly likely a stranger would stand much above.

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a meeting of the team will be held at Fayette Field. At this time a "blackboard talk" will be given.

"IT CAN'T BE DONE," with Earle Williams in the leading role in the feature attraction today and tomorrow. The story revolves around a combine of food merchants who have been going the public of a small American city. Mr. Williams is seen in the role of Austin Crane, author of a series of upper-ruffler stories, who has made for himself an enviable reputation. His style of writing so impressed the editor of a local newspaper that Crane was engaged to write a series of articles exposing the methods of the profiteers.

THE PARMAHNT.

"PARTNERS OF THE TIDE," the

PROCLAMATION BY THE SHERIFF OF FAYETTE COUNTY COMMONWEALTH of PENNSYLVANIA

WHEREAS, I, I. I. Shaw, Sheriff of Fayette County, have been formally notified by many citizens, industrial corporations and employers that printed inflammatory circulars and other information have been distributed and disseminated among the people calling a general strike of all employees of various industrial manufacturers throughout Fayette County with the request that they cease work and leave their places of employment and by reason thereof there now exists among the people great unrest, uncertainty and doubt as to the safety of life, liberty and property, therefore,

I, I. I. Shaw, SHERIFF OF FAYETTE COUNTY, by virtue of the authority vested in me, and the duties imposed upon me, by law, do hereby notify all MAYORS, BURGESSES, JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, CONSTABLES, AND POLICEMEN, whomsoever they are and wheresoever they may be in Fayette County, that the primary duty of maintaining public order, preserving the public peace, preserving the rights of all citizens and protecting all public and private property from loss, injury or destruction rests upon you and each of you, and that if any persons shall unlawfully, riotously, and tumultuously assemble together so as to endanger the public peace that you must immediately go among said rioters and then and there make PROCLAMATION IN THE NAME OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA requiring and commanding all such persons so assembled immediately to disperse themselves and peacefully depart to their habitations, or to their lawful business, and if such persons, notwithstanding such proclamation continue together you are required to immediately cause their arrest and prosecution in the manner prescribed by law.

All peace officers throughout Fayette County until the present emergency has passed are commanded to disperse and prevent upon the highways or vacant property of all populous sections the loitering or gathering of three or more persons, and whenever such gatherings occur to immediately direct and command such persons to proceed about their lawful business, avocations, or return to their homes and habitations.

Until such emergencies as this shall arise or some unlawful act has been committed, no orderly or peaceable person shall be disturbed or any of his lawful rights infringed upon.

Notice is also given that the law provides that all persons suffering any injury, loss of property or damages in any manner by reason of the acts of mobs or riotous persons can recover the full value thereof from the County of Fayette and that such damages must be paid by the taxpayers and every person responsible thereto.

HAT SHOULD DENOTE MOOD

Why and Wherefore of the Subject
Dealt With at Length by English Writers.

I never put on a new hat without a certain feeling of pity for the man who can never enjoy the delights therein that it gives, writes J. M. in the London Daily Mail.

But there is much to be gone through before that triumphant moment arrives, for the business of choosing a new hat is fraught with nervous apprehension lest our choice fall upon the wrong side or color.

It is a well-known fact that a man's hat reflects his character and his social position.

What then, is it exactly that we feel within ourselves as we step into the open street for the first time in a new hat?

If the hat is an undoubted success, it gives a peculiar sense of elation, knowledge that she is looking her best, always makes a woman feel her prettiest!

Hats should be indicative of the mood of the wearer. Black for denity, dark blue for soberness, brown for calm days, red for hastiness days.

The hat with the nodding roses denotes a gay midsummer mood, the tulip and violet topic makes a more serious and melancholy mood.

The dashing cavalier of a hat with sweeping plumes (name of your sweetheart) is the most popular of all hats.

He opened the farmyard gate where her lamb had so often rested, crossed the muddy road, and spied another gate, and struck off across the darkened road toward the ridge. The last sunlight lingered on crest and tree-top, hanged itself redly in the uppermost branches of a few tall redwoods, and was gone. Twilight—a long twilight that had in it some hint of spring—lay softly over the valley; the mountain loomed high in the clear shadow.

Gaining the top of the first ridge, he paused, and looked down the country road, to which he had driven all almost fifteen years ago. He remembered that it was in the beginning a sort of experiment; his mother and he were too much alone in their big city house, and she had suggested, with fine wisdom, that as he did not care for society, and as his travels always meant great loneliness for her, he should have a little place of his own, to which he might retreat whenever the fancy touched him.

She liked Del Monte and Tahoe herself, but she had come to Mill Valley now, and then in the days of his dear wild delight in its freedom and beauty, silk-gowned and white-gloved and very much disliking dust. She had seen him plants, roses, and fruit trees, and she had told him one day that he had a neighbor in the valley who was an old friend of hers, Doctor Strickland, a widow with children.

He had been about sauntering up the opposite canyon to duly call upon this master physician, one day, and his sight upon a well-read, musing, philosopher, erratic man, who had at once recognized a kindred spirit, and who had made the younger man warmly welcome.

Presently, on the first call, an enchanting little girl in a shabby smock had come in—a little girl all dimpled, dourness, and untouched boyish beauty. She had said that "Anne" was madly in love with that Aliz, and she managed to slip the name, "with me" in the middle.

A somewhat older girl, named Aliz, freckled, tiny little person with smooth front teeth, had proved the claim by falling out of the doorway, and had received no sympathy for a bump, but a—to him—rather surprising censure. "I am now 78 years old and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine to equal Tanlac. For 15 years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I had to lay up for weeks. For a long time I lived on crackers and nothing at nothing else except with me."

"When I started on Tanlac I weighed only 117 pounds and my deys were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully built up. I now weigh 143

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

To say that I feel 25 years young—pounds and my stomach is as sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe I could eat the old army rations again without hurting me in the least.

"I never miss a chance of saying a good word for Tanlac and I would like to urge the boys of the 'Garrison' who are not feeling well to give it a trial. For I am sure it would put them in fine again just as it has me. For a long time I used to have no physical ailment to be well and strong and enjoy life as we did 25 years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Connellsville by the Connellsville Drug Co. and leading druggists everywhere. Advertising.

Worse, to find Cherry a little older, happy and busy in her life of sacrifice, not needing him, not very much wanting the remainder of the old tragic time.

An owl cried in the woods; the mournful sound floated and drifted away into utter silence. Some small animal, meeting the death's breath, had evaded a hundred times, screamed shrilly, and was silent. Great branches, stirred by the light wind, moved high above his head, and when there was utter silence, Peter could hear the steady soft roar of the ocean, dashed here to the sound of a kinetic, other breathing.

Suddenly she seemed again to be beside him. He seemed to see the dark, unsmiling face, the slender, tall girl wrapped in her big, rough coat. He seemed to hear her vibrating voice,

Suddenly She Seemed Again to Be Beside Him.

With that new, tender note in it that he had noticed when she last spoke to him.

"I'll go home ahead of you, Peter, and wait for you there!"

Tears suddenly flooded his eyes, and he put his hand over them and pressed it there, standing still, while the way of tenderness and poignant and exquisite memories broke over him.

"We'll go on, Buck," he whispered, looking up through the cross at a strip of dark sky spangled with cold stars. "We'll go on. She's—she's waiting for me somewhere, old fellow!"

SPOT MARKET ESTABLISHED AT FORMER ASKING PRICES

Definite Advance for Furnace Product, Higher Rates for Foundry.

DEMAND COMING SHORTLY

Prospect Believed Bright for Early Resumption of Number of Furnaces; Pig Iron Market Stable Better, Advance of Dollar Ton Being Reported.

From The Weekly Courier.
PITTSBURG, Aug. 31.—The spot furnace market has definitely advanced in the past week, the continued furnace market has become plainly established at former asking prices of operators, and some sellers of spot foundry coke have secured higher prices than formerly. This is a very fair batch of good news for one week in the coke market and may be taken as being as strong in goodness as the reports of any preceding week was in badness.

Apart from the improvement as to coke prices, but of course directly associated with it, is the improved prospect for the volume of demand which has definitely passed several weeks ago, when the trend was for blast furnaces to go out of blast and thus reduce the total consumption of coke. The trend of late has been rather for furnaces to get into blast again, and the present prospect is that there will be more of those resumptions in the next few weeks.

An outstanding feature of the price situation in the past few weeks has been—the great vagueness as to prices at which coke could be bought have been raised around $2.75, and in some cases even $3.00, on the basis of what interest should have been to obtain the market, and who therefore could not have credited low-priced reports without seeking trustworthy confirmation. Many of these reports have gotten into print.

Merely as one illustration of what is referred to in the above comment the coke purchase of the American Rolling Mill company, for operating one of the stacks at Columbus, O., may be mentioned. First a report was assiduously circulated, and was apparently believed by many operators that the contract had gone to the Rollman interests at $2.75. This was followed closely by a report that the contract had gone to the Hillman interests at $2.75. It should have been well known that coke could not possibly be produced for that amount of money, and the report should not have been credited, as it was, without adequate explanation of why any coke operator should voluntarily shoulder himself with such a loss. Then there was a report that by-product coke had been bought instead of Connellsville, while there were other reports that the business had been split into three pieces. The absolute fact is that the American Rolling Mill company placed a part of the contract with the Hillman Coal & Coke company at $2.10, and a smaller part with the Pittsburgh Coke company at $2.20. The tonnage is 27,000 tons for 9,000 tons each September, October and November.

In various quarters in the past few weeks the spot furnace has been quoted down to $2.75. The Courier never quoted below $2.90, and there is no evidence that any standard furnace coke, at least in any volume such as would make a market, has sold at $2.75 since August, 1916, five years ago precisely. Over a month ago there was one solitary sale at $2.75, to a furnace in southern Ohio. Responsible for these incorrect reports, it is believed, should not be attached to the blast furnaces. There is no reason to believe that any number of pig iron producers have lately been desirous of pushing the coke market down. Of course the furnaceman wishes to buy his coke for as little money as possible, but merely because he does not wish to pay more than his competitor. As pig iron prices have been going a little matter of 25 cents a ton on coke is practically nothing as to making pig iron saleable or unsaleable. The opinion in the trade is that the responsible coke broker, as well as the operators of these reports, which is not uncommon, is the really curious thing being that the reports have received more credence of late than used to be accorded to such stories.

The spot furnace market is now all at $3.00, that being the minimum, and the probability is that only small odd lots could be picked up, at this figure, a little cleaning up being enough to cleanse the next coke to bring $3.10, $3.15 or even $3.25 if any considerable tonnage were desired. One of the influences in the market is, of course, the Rainey strike, against a proposed reduction, against a long-headed scale of July 1st, so that other independent operators are not seeking to disturb. The strike started at the beginning of last week at four mines, and has since spread.

The $3.10 price done on coke for shipment September to November, inclusive, may be regarded as setting the market precisely. For "contract" furnace coke in general the range indicated is $3.00 to $3.25. A supply for a single month would be kept in blast at shade less, say, at $3.00, while as coke is traditionally worth more in winter, a contract including December, would be higher, particularly if delivery did not begin at once. An operator today would consider $3.25 for October, November and December as neither better nor worse than $3.10 for September, October and November.

As to spot foundry coke, which has for several weeks been quoted at $3.00 to $3.25, two or three operators who were selling at $4.00 have advanced to $4.25 and have been able to hold the highest price. Otherwise the market shows no change, and the range is as formerly. In the past week or two there have been several inquiries as to contracts in foundry.

Operators have been indisposed to quote, except at an advance over the spot market, and most of the inquirers have concluded to continue buying from time to time, or to take simply a month's supply at a time. The market is now quotable as follows:

Spot furnace $3.00 to $3.25

Contract furnace $3.00 to $3.25

Spot foundry $4.00 to $4.50

Pig iron inquiry has not improved in volume, but the tendency recently developed among producers to ask higher prices has spread, and actual advances have been secured, putting up the market $1 a ton on basic iron and 60 cents on foundry. The advance in basic iron occasioned by fluctuations in the market has been for a long time, averaging 200 tons for a ton of coke, and the latest market maker, the delivered price being on the basis of $18. Valley, when recently sales were being made at $18. Valley. The usual asking price, however, is $20. The market is now quotable as follows:

Basic $18.00 to $20.00

Foundry $18.00 to $20.00

These prices are f. o. b. Valley, freight to Pittsburgh being $1.95.

SCIENTIFIC STUDY OF ACID-RESISTING MINING EQUIPMENT

Under a cooperative agreement with the United States Bureau of Mines, work on fellowship problems on the "Constitution of Coal" and "Acid-Resisting Equipment for Use in Coal Mines" has just been begun at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The research work on the constitution of coal will consist especially of the microscopic study of the freeport coal bed with a view to the economic utilization of the bone and carbon constituents. This problem will be undertaken by A. W. Voorhees, who holds the degrees of B. Sc. from Rutgers College and M. S. in geology from Princeton University. Mr. Voorhees, as a research fellow at the Idaho School of Mines in 1920, worked on flotation problems in the Coeur d'Alene region. In his collegiate work he specialized in chemistry, economics, geology and petrology, and did special work on the preparation of thin sections.

The problem on acid-resisting equipment for use in coal mines will include the collection of samples of mine water from various bituminous coal mines and the determination of the degree of acidity; a survey of the acid-resistant materials available for use in coal mines, and tests on the acid-resistant materials selected on the basis of this survey. This problem will be undertaken by George M. Elmo, who holds the degree of B. Sc. in metallurgical engineering from the South Dakota School of Mines. Mr. Elmo acted as analytical assistant at the mining exploration station of the South Dakota School of Mines in 1920, and has contributed a paper on "A Volumetric Method for the Determination of Tungsten" to the Technical press.
